

THREE TENURE-TRACK POSITIONS IN EDUCATION

The Faculty of Education at Queen's University invites applications for three tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant/Associate Professor. Starting date is July 1st, 2012.

Position 1 — CLASSROOM ASSESSMENT

The candidate should have an established or planned program of research in classroom assessment theories and practices. Preference will be given to those candidates who have a rich understanding of research topics and methods associated with research in educational assessment.

Position 2 — GEOGRAPHY AND/OR HISTORY (SOCIAL STUDIES)

The candidate should have successful teaching experience at the grade 7-12 level, knowledge of Ontario and/or other Canadian curricula, and a clear understanding of effective teaching practices in secondary schools. An established or planned program of research is required.

Position 3 — EDUCATIONAL POLICY AND LEADERSHIP

The candidate should have an established or planned program of research in one or more of the following areas: school leadership, organizational theory, educational policy, school law, or other related areas of educational administration.

Requirements for the positions include a completed (by 31 August 2012) doctoral degree in education, evidence of an active program of research, knowledge of teacher education, familiarity with the context of schooling and school systems in Canada, and a scholarly record appropriate to the applicant's career stage. Each successful applicant must be able to demonstrate how they intend to contribute to teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Each successful applicant will also be expected to supervise graduate students, maintain an active program of research and publication, and develop and maintain productive relationships with faculty colleagues and with professionals in school systems or other social agencies and community groups.
